Defining Off Job Training Requirements

Off-the-job training is defined as learning which is undertaken outside of the normal day-to-day work activities and which leads towards the achievement of an apprenticeship. This can include training that is delivered at the apprentice’s normal place of work or elsewhere within the organisation. It can include planned or unplanned work shadowing with a focus on training and development, work place mentoring or time spent observing other staff and includes all aspects of direct 1:2:1 training and support, staff meetings, appraisals, development reviews and / or performance development planning as well as any dedicated training sessions internally or externally.

Records should be kept by the learner and employer of all training and development activity and the length of time spent on such activities.

Each standard will differ to example

What is End Point Assessment?

Designed by industry the EPA sets out to independently assess the apprentice’s knowledge, skills and behaviours towards the end of their apprenticeship and in direct relation to their chosen career pathway. EPA is set against the criteria of the Apprenticeship Standard. Independent EPA ensures a greater consistency and quality of training delivery.

End Point Assessment typically includes;

- Building a portfolio of evidence demonstrating the learner’s knowledge and skills.
- Observation of work activities
- Professional discussion centred around multiple aspects of the role
